

SPEZIA

For centuries, Venice stood at the crossroads of East and West, welcoming flavours, spices and treasures from distant lands and connecting Italy to a world beyond its shores.

Spezia takes its name from the Italian word for spice, inspired by this rich history of trade, discovery and cultural exchange.

That same spirit shapes our cellar.

More than 500 wines begin with Italy, travelling from the iconic vineyards of Barolo, Brunello and Chianti Classico to lesser-known regions and indigenous varieties waiting to be discovered.

The journey continues through Australia and beyond, bringing together remarkable wines from celebrated regions and producers around the world, each with a distinct story of place, tradition and craft.

Every wine begins with a place. Every glass takes you there.

Begin your journey.

SPARKLING WINES BY THE BOTTLE

HOUSE OF ARRAS Tasmania

Born from a vision to craft world-class Australian sparkling wine, House of Arras is the benchmark for méthode traditionnelle sparkling in Tasmania. Founded in 1995 by acclaimed winemaker Ed Carr, Arras draws fruit from exceptional cool-climate sites across Tasmania, carefully selected for their unique terroir, maritime influence and ancient soils.

A pioneer of Australian sparkling wine, Ed Carr has earned global recognition, including the Lifetime Achievement Award at the Champagne & Sparkling Wine Championships and Sparkling Winemaker of the Year 2024 at the International Wine Challenge, London, affirming House of Arras among the world's finest sparkling producers.

PROSECCO

Fresh, vibrant and fruit-driven, Prosecco is Italy's most celebrated sparkling wine, produced primarily from the Glera grape in the rolling hills of north-east Italy. Crafted predominantly using the Charmat (tank) method, Prosecco is prized for its freshness, aromatic lift and approachable style.

PROSECCO DOC

A broader appellation spanning Veneto and Friuli Venezia Giulia, producing fruit-forward styles ideal for aperitivo.

WHITE WINES BY THE BOTTLE

GREAT WHITES OF FRIULI

Nestled in Italy's north-east, Friuli is home to some of the country's most compelling white wines. Shaped by Alpine breezes, Adriatic influence and mineral-rich soils, the region produces wines of remarkable purity, texture and precision. In this feature page, we proudly showcase some of the region's most iconic producers, celebrating the diversity and excellence that have made Friuli one of Italy's great white wine destinations.

LIVIO FELLUGA

Livio Felluga is one of Friuli-Venezia Giulia's most respected estates, founded by Livio Felluga in 1956. Based in Rosazzo, the estate farms vineyards across Collio and Colli Orientali. It is renowned for expressive whites, particularly Pinot Grigio, Sauvignon and the iconic Terre Alte, while also producing elegant Schioppettino and Refosco.

JERMANN

Jermann is a pioneering Friulian estate that helped redefine Italian white wine on the global stage. The winery blends tradition with a distinctly modern vision, gaining international acclaim in the late 20th century for wines that challenged expectations of Italian whites. Its cult cuvée Vintage Tunina became a landmark release, showcasing richness, precision and longevity in a style that bridged Old World structure with contemporary elegance.

LIS NERIS

Lis Neris is a benchmark producer from the Isonzo area of Friuli, known for its meticulous approach to site selection and low-intervention winemaking. The estate is particularly recognised for its refined, textural whites that balance richness with precision, expressing a more opulent side of Friuli's terroir-driven style.

DAMIJAN PODVERSIĆ

Damijan Podversic is one of Friuli's most respected artisanal winemakers, crafting distinctive skin-contact wines from vineyards around Monte Calvario, near Gorizia. His philosophy begins in the vineyard, working with native varieties such as Ribolla Gialla, Malvasia Istriana and Friulano on the region's mineral-rich ponca soils. In the cellar, extended skin maceration, spontaneous fermentation and patient ageing in large oak casks allow each wine to express its variety, vintage and terroir with remarkable depth and individuality. The result is a collection of complex, structured and age-worthy wines that represent a deeply traditional expression of Friuli.

NEBBIOLO

Nebbiolo is one of Italy's most noble and expressive grape varieties, best known for producing the great wines of Piedmont. Defined by its aromatic complexity, firm structure and natural acidity, it reveals layers of rose, cherry, tar and spice, often with powerful tannins that reward careful ageing. Across its many expressions, Nebbiolo captures a rare balance of perfume, precision and longevity.

BAROLO AND BARBARESCO

Barolo and Barbaresco are Piedmont's most celebrated expressions of Nebbiolo, grown among the rolling hills of the Langhe. Barolo is renowned for its powerful structure, firm tannins and exceptional longevity, while Barbaresco often reveals a more fragrant, elegant and approachable expression. Both combine Nebbiolo's signature aromas of rose, red cherry, spice and earth with remarkable complexity and an ability to age.

SANGIOVESE

Sangiovese is Italy's most widely planted noble grape and the backbone of many of its greatest wines. Defined by bright acidity, firm tannins and a savoury core, it expresses itself through layers of red cherry, dried herbs, earth and spice. From structured, age-worthy styles to more approachable expressions, Sangiovese captures the essential balance of tradition, terroir and versatility in Italian wine.

BRUNELLO AND ROSSO DI MONTALCINO

Brunello di Montalcino is one of Italy's most celebrated and age-worthy red wines, produced exclusively from Sangiovese, locally known as Brunello, within the historic territory of Montalcino in southern Tuscany. The region's varied elevations, exposures and soils give Sangiovese remarkable complexity, combining perfume and elegance with structure and longevity. By law, Brunello requires extended maturation, including a minimum of two years in oak, before release, allowing the wine to develop its signature character of red cherry, dried herbs, spice, earth and savoury complexity.

CORTE PAVONE Montalcino, Tuscany

Corte Pavone is a biodynamic estate in the heart of Montalcino, driven by the Loacker family's pioneering vision of expressive, site-specific winemaking. Under the direction of Hayo Loacker, the estate has become known for its meticulous micro-parcelling of vineyards and its "dynamic crus" approach, revealing the extraordinary diversity of Sangiovese across distinct hillside terroirs.

FIORE DEL VENTO

The most mineral-driven expression of Corte Pavone's 7 Dynamic Crus, Fiore del Vento comes from a small, rocky, high-altitude vineyard with highly variable microclimates and double exposure. Its stony limestone soils and late-ripening character produce a Sangiovese defined by tension, salinity and precision.

2016 CORTE PAVONE BRUNELLO DI MONTALCINO DOCG	380
2015 BRUNELLO DI MONTALCINO DOCG	425

ANEMONE AL SOLE

The most powerful expression of Corte Pavone's 7 Dynamic Crus, Anemone al Sole comes from a warm, sun-drenched hillside vineyard shaped by calcareous soils and the influence of the Scirocco wind. This extreme exposure produces a Sangiovese defined by density, ripeness and concentrated fruit, balanced by mineral tension and structure.

2015 BRUNELLO DI MONTALCINO DOCG RISERVA	495

POGGIO MOLINO AL VENTO

The largest and most variable of Corte Pavone's 7 Dynamic Crus, Poggio Molino al Vento spans a mosaic of balanced soils and sun-exposed southern slopes, shaped by constant maritime winds. This diversity allows a layered, spicy expression of Sangiovese, combining richness, structure and a distinctly savoury finish.

SUPER TUSCANS

Super Tuscans emerged as a bold response to tradition when visionary producers began crafting wines outside the classic appellation rules of Chianti and other DOCs. Built from international varieties such as Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot and Syrah, often alongside Sangiovese, these wines prioritise expression, quality and site over regulation. The result is a category defined by richness, structure and global prestige, representing some of Tuscany's most iconic and collectible wines.
